

Hi, we are the 5A class in the primary school of San Giuseppe, a small Italian village.

In our class there are 14 students: 8 boys and 6 girls.

We don't all come from Italy but from different countries in the world such as Senegal, Peru and Brazil.

San Giuseppe is in Emilia Romagna, in the North East Italy and on the Adriatic coast, near the mouth of the Po river.

The ancient name of the village is FONTANA (fountain) because in the city center there was a fresh water spring.

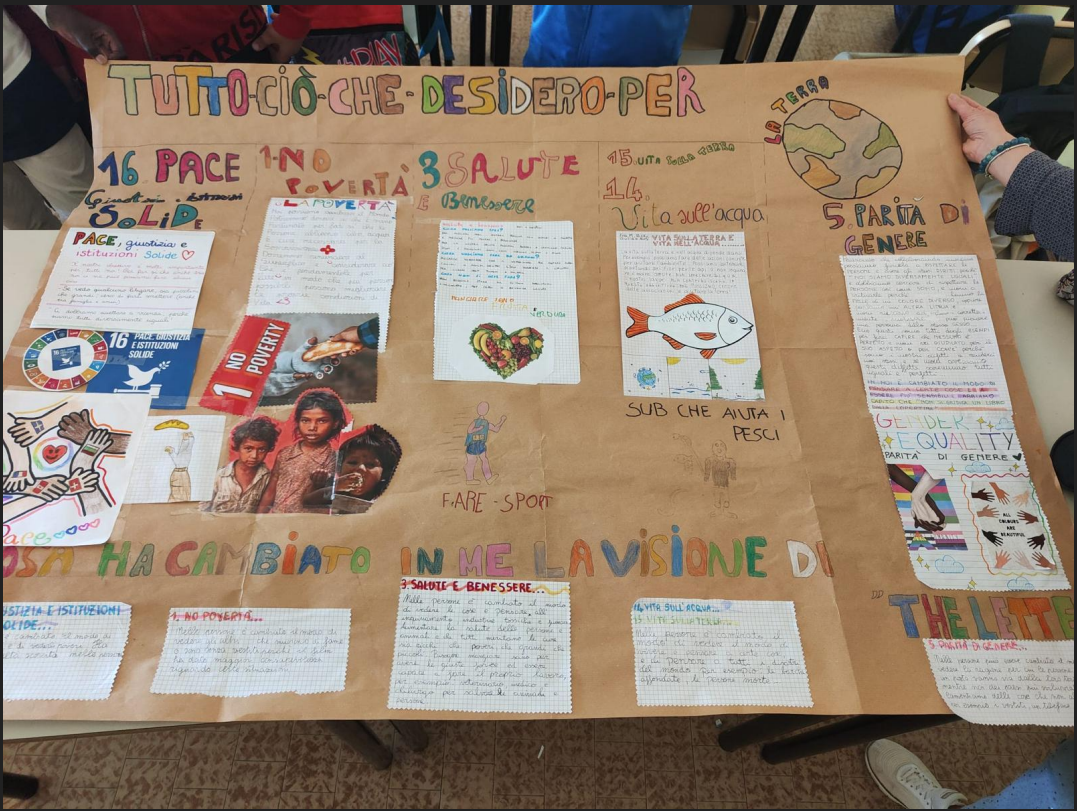

In the city center there is the primary school; opposite the primary school there is the kindergarten; near the kindergarten there is the church; next to the church there is the theater.

Furthermore there is also a bicycle shop, a dance school, snack bars and supermarkets. Behind the school there is a public park with toys such as swings, slides and pulleys; there are also beauticians and hairdressers, little clothes shops and obviously our houses.

We hope you like our town and we send you a kiss from Italy

This year, at school we have talked about pollution, ecology, climate change and global warming; we compare the 17 Sustainable Global Goals and the Laudato si', the letter of Pope Francis, and that's why now we want to become activist as Greta Thunberg.

Knowing the rights of workers in the world of work, as well as knowing your duties, it is good to know what you are entitled to do

By purchasing from local producers and companies you can support the economic growth of your region while avoiding drops in employment

SAFETY

Today the situation is serious especially in less developed countries: safety regulations such as helmets, gloves, boots, masks, glasses and overalls must be respected in every environment.

In some countries, children are forced to work, this can cause damage to their health, they cannot go to school and they are paid very little, To help them, we can no longer buy by brands where children work.
